THE HISTORY OF RELIGION

History of Religions in Outline. A Course of Twenty Lessons.—An historical and comparative study of the various religions of the world. A Course which serves to broaden the student's vision of the place of religion in man's life, while leading him to place a higher value upon the Christian religion.

Text Book: Barton, The Religions of the World ($1.60).

SOCIAL SERVICE

The Basic Law of Social Work. A Course of Ten Lessons.—This Course discusses the fundamental problems that lie back of all social work, and that furnish both its reason and inspiration. It thus treats of the Nature of the Social Problem, the Relation of Man to Society, the Aim of Life, and similar questions.

Text Book: Palmer, The Nature of Goodness ($1.25).

Social Problems and Social Policy. A Course of Fifteen Lessons.—This Course follows up the preceding Course which it is strongly urged the student should study first. The Course deals with concrete social problems, such as Poverty, its Causes and Methods of Relief; Crime and Prison Reform, the Liquor Traffic, Overcrowding in Cities, the various Social Evils bound up with City Life, Industrial Problems, Immigration, Rural Problems, etc. Beside the text book, use is made of Government Reports and of such like material as may be available on particular problems.

Text Book: Rowe, Society, Its Origin and Development ($1.50).

ADDRESS-MAKING

Address-Making. A Course of Thirteen Lessons.—In this Course the student is shown how to select and prepare materials for platform use, and is instructed in the preparation of Bible Readings and addresses of various kinds, in the use of illustrations, etc. The Local Preacher, Epworth Leaguer or worker who completes the Course will have a considerable amount of usable material on hand for platform work, besides having gained added powers and facility in expression. The Lessons consist of typed notes giving general hints and providing constant exercises, thus no text book is used for the Course.

English Grammar and Composition. A Course of Thirteen Lessons.—An Outline Course dealing with the various parts of speech, kinds of sentences, etc. Much practical work is given, as also hints and exercises in composition, paraphrasing, and correct use of words. The work of the Course is made plain and easy, and at the same time thoroughness is not lost sight of. For one wishing to improve in English it forms an exceedingly useful Course.

Text Book: Nesfield, Outline of English Grammar (50c).

Preparatory English Literature. A Course of Twenty-five Lessons.—The aim of this Course is the cultivation of an intelligent appreciation of English literature. It is designed for those who wish to take up, either for the first time or by way of review, the more simple and definite features of the study of literature. The works read are those required for College Matriculation, so that the Course serves also for students preparing for college.

Text Books: Shakespeare, Merchant of Venice, Edited by Clark and Wright (30c); Hardy, Selected Poems of Wordsworth and Tennyson (25c).
